Project Introduction

I developed is designed to offer users a seamless and enjoyable shopping experience. The website caters to a broad audience, including fashion enthusiasts, casual shoppers, and anyone looking for high-quality clothing items online. The primary goal of this project is to create a platform that is not only visually appealing but also easy to navigate, allowing users to browse and purchase products with minimal effort.

In today's digital age, the demand for online shopping is continually growing, and this project aims to meet that demand by providing a wide range of clothing options. From trendy outfits to classic styles, the website offers a diverse collection to suit various tastes and preferences. The design focuses on user-friendliness, ensuring that visitors can quickly find what they are looking for, whether it's through intuitive navigation, search features, or category filters.

Additionally, the website is built with scalability in mind, allowing for future expansions and the integration of new features, such as personalized recommendations and customer loyalty programs. This project not only showcases my skills in web development but also reflects my understanding of the needs of modern consumers in the online retail space.

Technology Used

HTML5:

HTML (Hyper Text Markup Language) is the standard language used to create and structure content on the web. It forms the backbone of any webpage, defining the structure and layout of text, images, links, and other media.

CSS3:

CSS is a style sheet language used to describe the presentation of a document written in HTML. While HTML provides the structure and content, CSS controls how it looks, allowing you to create visually engaging and responsive web pages.

Problem Faced

Problem 1:

While I was working with images and texts, I was so confused how to center a div, and how to guve resoponsive images width and height for all images. I also struggled with giving boldness, and color for texts.

Problem 2:

While I tried to connect with my form to backend to get a quick notification on my mobile, I got a so many problems. After some reseach, I got a idea.

Problem 3 :

Thinking about descreptive text was another big problem. I had no idea how to describe my products, menu, e.t.c.

Problem 4:

Switching from raw css to bootstrap class types was my another problem as I never used bootstrap before.

Solutions

Solution 1:

Adjusted the CSS positioning and used transform to correctly center text overlays.I gave object-fit and object-size property to a images which helps to solve my picture sizing problem. And for texts, I tries differents colors and font-weights.

Solution 2:

Watched some weebhooks tutorial and it saved me.

Solution 3:

I described as much as possible. And somewhere I used Chatgpt and asked for descreptive text.

Soution 4:

I learned from bootstrap's official documentation and watched some tutorial videos.

Results Achieved

A fully responsive and visually appealing website that effectively showcases the food items is build using html, css, javascript and bootstrap. The navigation bar is responive for both laptop and mobile devices. Images are also responsible.A website is sucessfully deployed to Vercel without any errors and warning.

Conclusion

The Chatpate Pasal project demonstrates effective use of web technologies to create a simple yet functional e-commerce-like website for food items. It also highlights how to handle common web development challenges like layout issues and API integrations.
